Re: In the Matter of Petition of USTelecom for Forbearance Pursuant to 47 U.S.C. Section 160(c); WC Docket No. 18-141; Category 1

Dear FCC,

As a consumer, I have always been surprised by how little choice I have in selecting an Internet provider. This also accounts for the fact that consumer internet connections at the US are several times as expensive as in Europe with, generally, poorer quality of service.

Whatever the legal technicalities may be, this market has very little competition and verges on monopoly in many places. As a consumer, I am fortunate to live in a location with a small local provider who charges more reasonable rates. Any regulation that makes it harder for the smaller players to compete will have an adverse effect on American families, and I therefore most energetically oppose it.
